CURRENT COMMENT

The New Tax Commissioner.

If John M. Avery, the new tax commissioner, gives the same amount of study and puts the pep into this new job he has always put into the old one he should develop into a good state official. If study will do he will succeed in this very important branch of the state government. He has got to start right, keep right, and not be too thin skinned. As long as there was bound to be a change anyway it looks good. Absolutely no politics in this appointment. We half suspect many were fooled. He will start in with a good team in his new office, already at work.—Northfield News.

Lights on Vehicles.

A collision between an automobile and a wagon without any lights is reported from Brattleboro. It is remarkable that more accidents of this nature have not been recorded. While the law says that all vehicles on the highways shall carry lights, it is no uncommon thing for the autoists at night suddenly to come upon a team which is not obeying the law. Only drivers of machines realize how narrowly had smashes of this kind are frequently avoided. If those who travel in wagons at night without lights actually knew from the autoist's standpoint in what peril they were placing themselves they would quickly and willingly comply with the law.—St. Albans Messenger.

Emery's Capabilities.

This paper knows nothing about whether C. S. Emery, first mayor of Newport, would consent to become a candidate for governor or not (his name being mentioned among the possibilities by the Burlington Free Press) but should he go into the race for the nomination "Curt" Emery would receive strong support. And no man mentioned as a possibility would grace the governor's chair with greater dignity, or make a more able, conscientious and popular executive.—Barton Monitor.

Add $$ to Your Cream Check

Right now is the dairy farmer's harvest time. Creameries are paying the biggest prices for butter fat that they have paid for many years, and every drop represents money.

Are $$ Slipping Away From You Because of an Old or Defective Separator?

If the separator you are using is an old one, or if you have any reason to believe that it is not skimming clean, do not let any more money slip away from you through the losses that it causes.

Come in and Buy a Lily

The Lily is not the lowest priced cream separator made, neither is it the highest priced one, but it is among the best. It skims down to the last drop of butter fat and produces an even, smooth quality of cream that brings the highest price. These are things you want in a cream separator because they are the only things that make it pay.

The Lily supply can be pressed from one piece of sheet steel, heavily reinforced at the top and bottom. Milk will not splash when poured into it. The faucet is located inside the can so that the outside is smooth. You can set the can on a bench or table without pushing the faucet out of place. If you accidentally drop the can, you will not bend the faucet and throw it out of line, as you would if it were located on the outside of the can. A slanting bottom in the can and two openings in the faucet drain the can completely.

There are many other things to tell you about the Lily, and the only way you can get it all is to come and see the machine for yourself. Do this the first chance you get.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davidson of Canada are visiting at the home of Mr. Davidson's sister, Mrs. Robert Gordon of Orange street. Mrs. Davidson was one of the first Canadians to go into the war, enlisting in 1914 and going over with the first contingent from Canada. He saw all the great battles of the early war and was in the trenches when the Germans first sent over the poisonous gas. He was taken prisoner in the second battle of Cambrai and for 21 months remained in various German prison camps, where he found the life very hard. He escaped once and got 45 miles away before being captured. As evidence of his hardships received in the camps, Sgt. Davidson said that he lost 54 pounds in the 21 months and he repeated the well-known estimate of the Germans, "There is no good German but a dead one." At the signing of the armistice the captors picked up their goods and left and the captives had to walk 90 miles back to the allied front without food or money. Mr. Davidson got back to London Dec. 27. He has purchased a farm in Canada and will now go back to farming.

Before a good-sized crowd at Gazeley's field last evening the Graniteville A. C. lost to Moretown by the score of 4 to 2.
